

Jessie --- Albarian

I code. I design. I chase opportunity.

“ My mission is to provide exceptional software and stunning designs to help the overall success of your business. ”

About Me

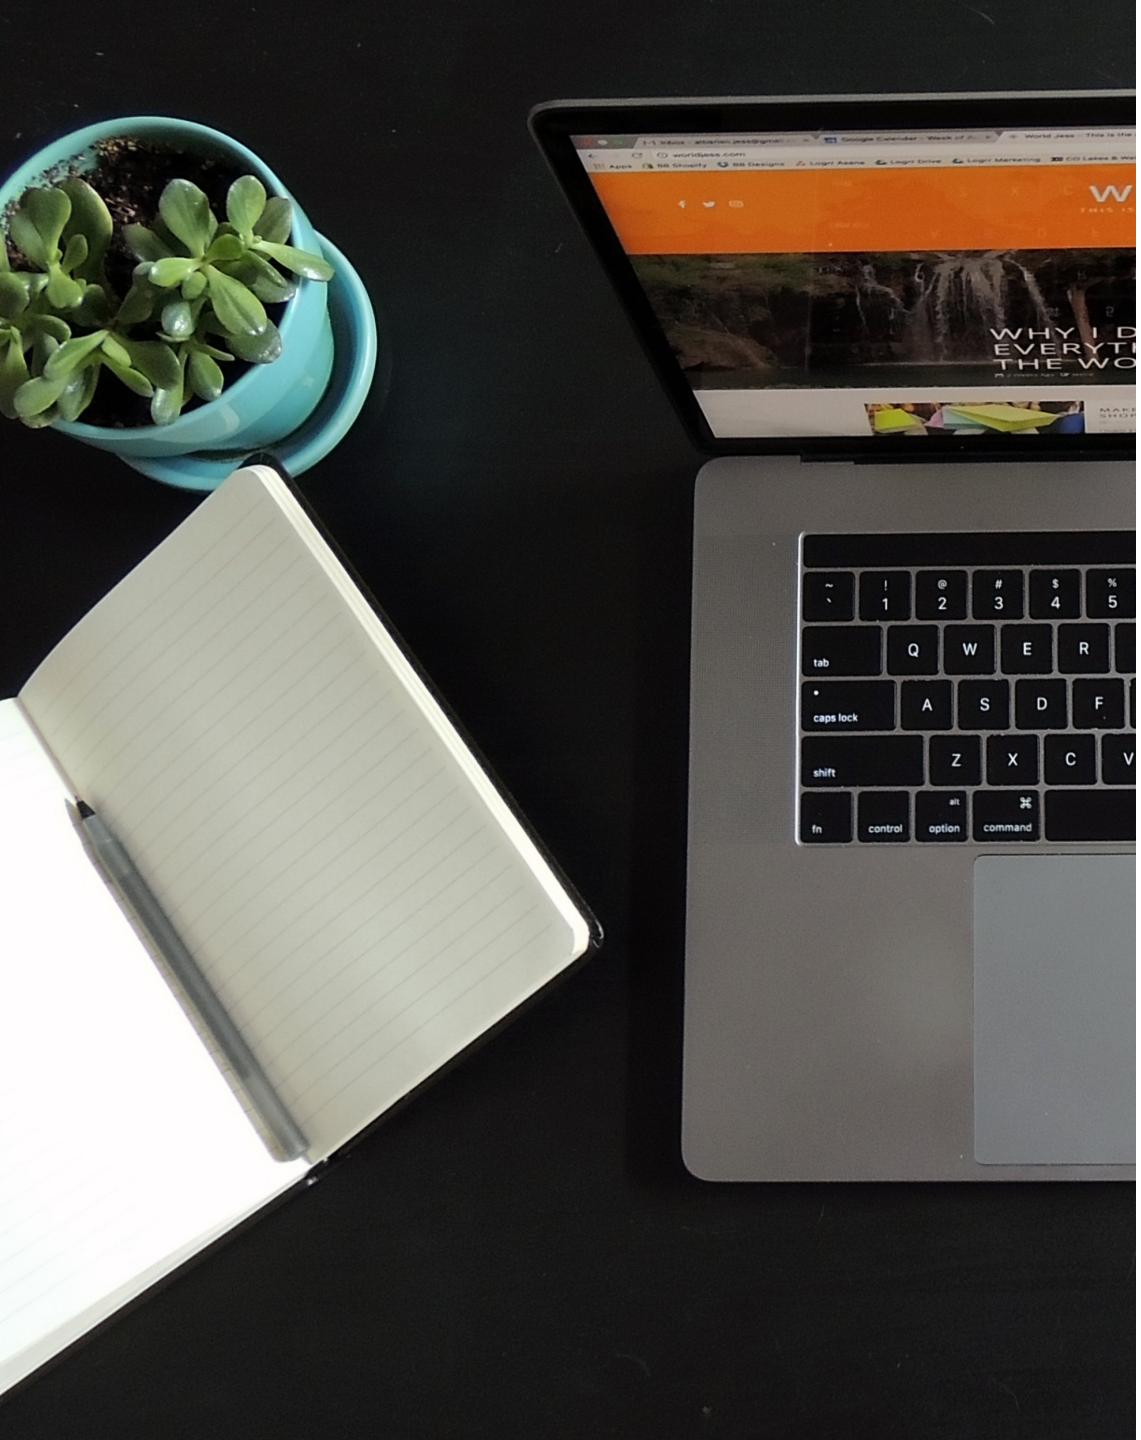

I am a software developer and creative designer who specializes in website design and development, mobile app development, and UX/UI. I am an artist at heart, so I solve problems and work on projects with both my creativity and logical thinking.

I have an Associates Degree of Science and a Bachelors Degree of Computer Science from the University of Colorado Boulder.

I have been a professional freelancer since 2015 and love working on new, challenging projects and meeting new clients from across the world.

When I'm not working, I love traveling, hiking, music, and going to tech and design conferences!
